

COMMISSIONS AND TEAMS

1534

The commission appointed by the pope Clement VII to verify the condition of the Shroud after the 1532 fire and their identity (April 15, 1534)

1. Cardinal Ludovic de Gorrevod (bishop of St. Jean di Maurienne - France)
2. Bishop Claude d'Estavayer (or of Stagnac) (Bishop of Belley - France)
3. Bishop Pierre Farfey (bishop of Beyruth - Ottoman Empire)
4. Bishop Auxiliary of Maurienne and Tarantaise (France) (it is not sure if he is Pierre Perrin, Jean Joly de Fleury or Jean Philibert de Challes)
5. Bishop Pierre Meynard (bishop of Hebron - Ottoman Empire, that in some texts is reported with the wrong name of Embrun)
6. The count Gruyère
7. Philippe Lambert (one of those who saved the Shroud from the 1532 fire)
8. Pierre Lambert

There were also some other dignitaries, members of the clergy and of the palace that had seen and touched the Shroud.

1898

During the exhibition, Don Natale Noguier de Malijay, teacher of physics and chemistry at the Liceo of Valsalice, suggests to the Baron Antonio Manno to ask the king Umberto I to take a photograph of the Shroud. The president of a Turin association of Experts of Photographic Art, the lawyer Secondo Pia, is chosen to take a photograph of the Shroud protected by crystal. Noguier also suggests that an international commission of prelates and laymen with scientific competence study the Shroud, but his proposal is not accepted.

Secondo Pia takes part in a commission that will organise an Exhibition of Sacred Art in Turin. The King agrees to create a special subcommission for the photographs. This commission is constituted by Pia, the Baron Antonio Manno, the Professor Brielli, the Engineer Pucci, the Professor Ghirardi, the Lawyer Cattaneo and the Cavaliere Mella.

During the exhibition, Giuseppe Enrie, a professional photographer, obtains permission to take photographs of the Shroud without the crystal protection and taken from the shrine. Also present are the cardinal Maurilio Fossati, the archbishop of Turin, the Piedmont Princes, Paul Vignon, lecturer of biology at Sorbonne and professor of the Institute Catholique of Paris, Mgr. Giovanni Battista Pinarci, president of the Executive Council with many members, Mgr. Bressolles, Mgr. Imberti, Don Antonio Tonelli, the Count Carlo Lovera of Castiglione, the Count Federico Ricardi of Netro, the Engineer George Porché, the Lawyer Secondo Pia, a representation of the canons of the Cathedral, the guardians of the Shroud, a few prelates; in total there were almost one hundred people. The scholars made observations on the relic using lenses as well.

1933

On the occasion of the exhibition some scholars suggest to the cardinal Maurilio Fossati to make scientific examinations on the relic. The pope Pius XI expresses a negative opinion because of the many vicissitudes suffered by the relic that could have damaged it.

1969

The commission of experts appointed by the archbishop of Turin Cardinal Michele Pellegrino to study the condition of the relic also in expectation of further research (June 16-18, 1969)

1. Cardinal Michele Pellegrino
2. Mgr. Sergio Baldi
3. Mgr. Pietro Caramello
4. Mgr. Josè Cottino
5. Silvio Curto, teacher of Egyptology at Turin University
6. Enzo De Lorenzi, Consultant of Radiology at the Mauriziano Hospital of Turin
7. Giorgio Frache, Director of the Institute of Legal Medicine of Modena University
8. Noemi Gabrielli, Curator of the Piedmont Galleries
9. Luigi Gedda, Professor at the University Institute "Maria Assunta" of Rome
10. Giovanni Judica Cordiglia, Teacher of Legal Medicine at Turin University
11. Camillo Lenti
12. Enrico Medi, physicist

The photographer Giovanni Battista Judica Cordiglia and his assistant Carlo Andrea Filipello, the count Umberto Provana of Collegno, Umberto Chierici, Nemo Riccardo Toncelli, the bishop Francesco Sanmartino participated in the operation as well.

1973

The commission of experts appointed by the archbishop of Turin Cardinal Michele Pellegrino to prepare the television exhibition on November 23, 1973 (October 4, 1973) and to do further examinations (November 24, 1973)

1. Cardinal Michele Pellegrino
2. Mgr. Sergio Baldi
3. Mgr. Pietro Caramello
4. Mgr. Josè Cottino
5. Cesare Codegone, Director of the Institute of Technical Physics at the Turin Polytechnic
6. Silvio Curto, teacher of Egyptology at Turin University
7. Enzo De Lorenzi, Consultant of Radiology at the Mauriziano Hospital of Turin

8. Guido Filogamo, of the Institute of Normal Human Anatomy and of Histology at Turin University
9. Noemi Gabrielli, Curator of the Piedmont Galleries
10. Giovanni Judica Cordiglia, Teacher of Legal Medicine at Turin University
11. Emilio Mari, assistant of G. Filogamo
12. Eugenia Mari Rizzati, assistant of G. Filogamo
13. Mario Milone, Director of the Chemistry Institute of Turin University
14. Gilbert Raes, Director of the Institute of Textile Technology University of Gand (Belgium)

The photographer Giovanni Battista Judica Cordiglia, Pietro Roz, Roberto Spigo, Aurelio Ghio, Max Frei Sulzer, the bishop Livio Maritano, the count Umberto Provana of Collegno, Mgr. Paolo Pollicita, Mgr. Giovanni Battista Bosso, Don Giovanni Luciano, Antoine Legrand, D. Galimard, Sister Eliselda Campagnolo, Sister Luciana Lunardi, Sister Albertina Maggiorotti, Sister Angelina Negro, all participated in the operation as well.

Giorgio Frache, Director of the Institute of Legal Medicine of Modena University and Alberto Zina of the Institute of Normal Human Medicine of Turin University, used the data and the samples taken by others for their studies.

Researchers who took part in the “Shroud of Turin Research Project” (STURP) and the research Institutes they belonged to at the time of the examination (October 8-14, 1978)

1. Joseph S. Accetta, Lockheel Corporation
2. Alan Adler, Western Connecticut State University
3. Steven Baumgart, U.S. Air Force Weapons Laboratories*
4. Ernest H. Brooks II, Brooks Institute of Photography*
5. Robert Bucklin, Harris County, Texas, Medical Examiner’s Office
6. Donald Devan, Oceanographic Services Inc.*
7. Rudolph J. Dichtl, University of Colorado*
8. Robert Dinegar, Los Alamos National Scientific Laboratories*
9. Thomas F.D’Muhala, Nuclear Technology Corporation*
10. Jim Drusik, Los Angeles County Museum
11. Mark Evans, Brooks Institute of Photography*
12. Joseph Gambescia, St. Agnes Medical Centre
13. John D. German, U.S. Air Force Weapons Laboratories*
14. Roger Gilbert, Oriel Corporation*
15. Marriot Gilbert, Oriel Corporation*
16. Thomas Haverty, Rocky Mountain Thermograph*
17. John Heller, New England Institute
18. John P. Jackson, U.S. Air Force Academy*
19. Eric J. Jumper, U.S. Air Force Academy*
20. Donald Janney, Los Alamos National Scientific Laboratories*
21. Joan Janney, Los Alamos National Scientific Laboratories*
22. Jean Lorre, Jet Propulsion Laboratory*

23. Ronald London, Los Alamos National Scientific Laboratories*
24. Donald J. Lynn, Jet Propulsion Laboratory*
25. Vernon D. Miller, Brooks Institute of Photography*
26. Roger A. Morris, Los Alamos National Scientific Laboratories*
27. Robert W. Mottern, Sandia Laboratories*
28. Samuel Pellicori, Santa Barbara Research Center*
29. Ray Rogers, Los Alamos National Scientific Laboratories*
30. Larry Schwalbe, Los Alamos National Scientific Laboratories
31. Barrie M. Schwartz, Barrie Schwartz Studios*
32. Diane Soran, Los Alamos National Scientific Laboratories
33. Kenneth E. Stevenson, IBM*

The researchers with the star (*) have participated directly in the examinations of 1978 in Turin. All the others are members of the research team STURP and they used the data and the samples taken by others for their studies.

The list of the participants also includes:

34. Mgr. Sergio Baldi
35. Mgr. Pietro Caramello
36. Mgr. Josè Cottino
37. Mgr. Giovanni Luciano
38. Maria Artom, Electrotechnic Institute “Galileo Ferraris” , Turin
39. Pierluigi Baima Bollone, Professor of Legal Medicine, Faculty of Medicine and Surgery of Turin University
40. Giovanni Riggi, Riggi Project Company
41. Riccardo Bisi, photographer
42. Alessandro Cacciani, Astronomy professor at Rome University
